London, JULY 2004

Cat Games EURO 2004 penalty shootout game had over 10,000 entrants.

Specially written by Cat Games peer2peer flash team, the funny, cartoon-style game contained caricatures of each nationality in the European Championship finals.

In tournaments of up to 16 teams, players selected their nationality and battled it out for glory and the prize of a Microsoft Xbox.

The game was also widely popular with SundayLeague's network of football sites.
