

Sunday League

SundayLeague.com kicks off the season with an update of their award winning football management game.

Cat Games, developer of Sunday League (www.sundayleague.com); the world's largest online football management game has reported that the game's eagerly awaited update has now been released to coincide with the start of the new football season.

This update will be welcomed by the vibrant community of 1.3 million foot-mad and game-savvy players who log into Sunday League daily to compete against other managers worldwide, in countries as far a field as the USA, Australia and Canada

Updated features include; New graphic interface, Inter-server 'Prediction League', advance tactic setting options, 'proxy bidding' system for buying players on the transfer market, live customer support, more in-depth tactical options. For a one of payment Sunday League Managers are given 'membership' this entitles the member to bonus credits, downloads, 'member's only forum' and the chance organise private leagues with friends and colleagues online.

Sunday League's main strength is its addictive mixture of humour, game play and the competitive online community. And best of all, it is free to play with an option to buy low priced credits to build up your squad and grab some superb prizes!

So if you've got a bunch of footy mad friends who think that they can do better than Mourinho, Rafael Benitez or Sir Alex Ferguson then ask them to prove it! Visit www.sundayleague.com to join in the fun, free of charge with some great prizes on offer.

www.catgames.com